

VOWLS COVID-19 Guidance

In this time of uncertainty, it is a relief to be connected with one another to learn and share information. In response to possible impending school closures, the VOWLS board has collected a list of free online resources to support continued world language teaching and learning. This is not an exhaustive list and it is in no particular order. Please check with your textbook publishers and world language resource vendors to see if they have special materials or discounts. If you have links to add to this list, please vet them in advance and email to VOWLSOfficers@gmail.com

Quick Tips for Online Learning in World Language Classrooms

1. Consider a “menu” of options rather than the same task for all students. This allows students to hook in to their own interests as well as differentiate tasks based on the different resources students will have access to.
2. Break assignments or tasks into a series of steps.
3. For each part of an assignment, be specific and clear in your expectations without being verbose. (It’s a tough balance!)
4. Provide explicit expectations for each and every assignment or task.
  - List the purpose: Why is it important that students complete this assignment?
  - What are the objectives? (What are students asked to know and be able to do by the end of the assignment?)
  - What are the success criteria? (Share a rubric or exemplar).
  - How are points or grades awarded for work on this assignment?
5. Maximize learning with online discussion topics:
  - Establish norms for discourse and behavior: interactions should be positive and respectful.
  - Explain how to disagree respectfully in a comment (provide an example).
  - Set clear expectations including target language usage.
  - Explain how students must fully explain their thinking and ideas and avoid one-word responses and simple phrases (with examples).

6. Be present. Online learning works when a teacher is active, present, and responsive. Provide communication to students frequently in order to let them know you are engaged.

VIRTUAL VIRGINIA

For the remainder of the 2019–2020 academic year, Virtual Virginia will offer 81 online resources in all subject areas at no cost for your teachers and students to use in online delivery via the Virtual Virginia LMS. ## General Tools and Broad Plans

- Flipgrid blog video posts
- Remind app- to communicate with students
- Flippity.net - has a lot of options for games, and even manipulatives
- Group writing - have students write in multiple colors, insert comments, etc.
- Adobe Spark to create short presentations with voiceovers about topic
- WeVideo to create short video about topic: read story in TL to share with elementary schools
- Screencastify over Google Slides to present, upload to Padlet for others to view
- Google Forms for questions/picture descriptions/short reading passages
- Newsela articles with questions
- Find news article in target language (provide links of news sites) and write summary
- Actively Learn - insert questions into a reading
- EdPuzzle- add questions into a YouTube video
  - List of EdPuzzles in Spanish by theme and level
- Book creator- have students create books/ stories/ cultural assignments
- Quizlet- have students create their own set or work on created sets
- Have students design their own Google Site as a portfolio

- Watch a movie/tv show in the target language (or culture) and write a structured film critique
- Flip your lesson; record a grammar lesson and have students practice with online activities or worksheets where you publish an answer key
- Editable Choice board example
- Padlets so students record themselves and listen to others talk about the work we are reading (example: <https://padlet.com/niharrai/LorcaMuerte>)
- GoSoapBox: discussion boards
- Record a lecture via Screencastify
- Use Zoom for discussions- up to 100 people can join a discussion
  - Can still hold AM Support; give other options
  - Can record and post a Zoom meeting
    - Consider in settings: turn off Chat (settings are linked in Teacher Guide)
    - Check out “Breakout Sessions”; it’s like assigning groups in the language lab
- Garbanzo- learn Spanish through stories (2 week free trial)
- Ted Ed- Resource where teachers can choose from lessons already created or create their own. Students could also create lessons to share with others.
- Interpretive Tech Tools
  - Google Forms
  - PollEverywhere
  - InsertLearning
  - Quizlet

Specific Lessons Here

- ASL 1 e-learning
- Digital reading log- make a copy and modify for your students
- 2 weeks of editable French, Spanish, Latin e-learning activities- you need to sign up for their blog
- e-Learning Template from Lake Forest High School
- Cultural listening activities in Spanish Spanish listening activities

- Research, Reflect, Respond! Consider using the United Nation's 17 Global Goals for Sustainable Development and a Project-Based Learning model with students- engaging them in solving a real-world problem or answering a complex question. Students can decide in advance which topic is of most importance to them and opt to work collaboratively with their peers in small groups, partnerships or on their own. Either way, they can log their progress with researching the issue, reflecting on possible solutions and then using a collaborative platform to share their thoughts/responses to the problem.
